Declares There's No Point In Revealing Donors to Funds For Illini Officials

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson said today he will not reveal the names of those who contributed to or received money from a special cash fund he set up to supplement the pay of some Illinois state officials.

"There is no point in revealing any names," the Democratic presidential nominee said.

"It would be publicity they do not deserve and a breach of good faith on my part, too."

Sen. Richard Nixon, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, and several other Republicans have demanded Stevenson reveal details of the fund. Nixon talked about it in his report to the nation last night on his own $18,000 fund for political expenses.

The governor discussed his fund at a breakfast of 550 volunteers for Stevenson which wound up a week's campaigning in the East.

He said he chose the method of raising the income of "key state employees" because the positions were filled by men who not only took the jobs at less money than they had been receiving "but gave up security for the hazards of government."

Has Declined Big Jobs

He said one official had at least three times turned down offers from private enterprises at more than three times his public salary.

"This loyalty and devotion is very hard to attract, and once attracted it is very hard to treat lightly," Stevenson said.

"The Illinois governor said he hoped 'this discussion will focus attention on this problem on all levels of government.'"

He maintained adequate compensation for public officials is "one of the most pressing needs for good government."

He said he knew of "no method except to pay higher salaries."

The governor also said uniform salary scales adopted by most states for their employees are not as "satisfactory or practical as flexible scales paid by private business."

The governor explained that after his inauguration in 1948 he had found it "difficult getting men for public service with real competence, not just the garden variety, to take key positions."

Considered State Foundation

Some that he did take on, he said, suffered financial losses. Stevenson said he first considered a plan whereby public spirited citizens would make gifts to the state itself or a foundation established for the state.

This was rejected as impractical. Then he hit on the idea of "gifts, usually around Christmas time to a small number of key employees making sacrifices for the state."

The money came from a balance left from his campaign funds and later contributions.

He insisted there was no connection between the contributor and the recipient. Neither has ever known who the other was, Stevenson said, nor have other state officials known who has been receiving what.

Stevenson closed his campaign swing with the assertion he is sure of victory in the presidential election.

In his final major speech of the eastern jaunt he declared the Republicans — and particularly Sen. Robert A. Taft — are responsible for inflation and the high cost of living.

May Need Tighter Controls

Wage and price controls, he said, may have to be tightened, not further relaxed — a last-minute revision in the original text.

Stevenson watched Nixon's television broadcast through the first few minutes but had to leave for his own speech before the California senator finished.

Afterward, reporters told him that Nixon said he was placing his case in the hands of the Republican National Committee for final decision. They asked for comment, and Stevenson replied:

"I don't think I'll have anything to say on that."

The Democratic presidential candidate said several days ago that "condemnation without ascertaining the facts would be wrong."

There are no surface evidences of satisfaction in Stevenson's camp over the Nixon case. In fact, correspondents who have been covering the governor's campaign have heard little discussion of it among his staff, one way or the other.

No Reference to Nixon

Stevenson did not refer to Nixon in his address last night.

He concentrated on carrying the fight to the Republicans on a major issue of this campaign — inflation and costs of living. The GOP has accused the Truman administration of cheapening the dollar, causing high prices, and pursuing a policy of deficit spending.

Stevenson said this is not so. High taxes and high costs of living, he told an audience of about 8,500 people in Baltimore, are the result of necessary military spending, caused by the threat from Soviet Russia. And he added:

"The great majority of Republicans in Congress voted to end rent control. . . . Four times, a majority of the Republicans voted to end controls on all things consumers buy."

He called Taft "the leader of the inflationary shock troops in Congress."

Square Dancing Classes Begin Friday Night

Square dancers with itching feet and the tingling sensation in the old hand to allemande left and allemande right will have their first chance of the square dance season to swing their partners round and round Friday night as the advance class gets into full swing at the Sacred Heart Gymnasium at 8 o'clock.

The caller, Charles Gross of Kansas City, as well as the dancers, will oil up the loose joints of their square dance muscles, refresh their memories on basic fundamentals and get in tune to the latest and best in square dancing.

On Monday night the organizational dance for the beginners class will be at the Smith-Cotton Cafeteria.

This class will be composed of people interested in learning for the first time and those who missed several lessons last season. If enough people are interested, the intermediate group will be formed for those who have some instructions but feel they cannot keep up with the advance class. However, all individuals interested in either the beginners or intermediate are invited as spectators to the organizational dance of the advanced class on Friday night.

Would Have Ike Quote Acheson In Full, Not Part

WASHINGTON (AP)—A State Department spokesman suggested today that when presidential candidates quote Secretary Acheson on foreign policy they should quote him in full.

Press officer Michael J. McDermott made the comment on a charge by Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman that General Dwight D. Eisenhower was guilty of a "blatant omission and misrepresentation" in a foreign policy speech Monday night in Cincinnati.

Eisenhower quoted from a speech Acheson made Jan. 12, 1950 to the effect that the administration excluded such Asiatic mainland areas as Korea from the so-called defensive perimeter in the Pacific. Harriman yesterday distributed copies of Acheson's speech which contained reference to commitments under the U. N. charter as a safe-guard against aggression in areas beyond this perimeter.

McDermott told reporters they should decide for themselves whether Eisenhower distorted Acheson's position.

Thought for Today

The tongue of man is powerful enough to render the ideas which the human intellect conceives; but in the realm of true and deep sentiments it is but a weak interpreter. These are inexpressible, like the endless glory of the Omnipotent. —Kossuth.

On Round-World Flight—Bryan Reports

He Finds Great Changes In Turkey Where New Republic Gives Freedom To People, Separates Church-State

By Rev. David M. Bryan,

On Round-the-World Tour.

ISTANBUL, Turkey.—Since my last report to the home town paper I have left the new state of Israel and have come here to this "new Rome" which the Emperor Constantine built on the Bosphorus. I had known something of the revolution that Turkey's great republican leader, Kemal Ataturk, brought to this land, but I was not quite prepared to see so much difference between Turkey and other Moslem lands. It was Ataturk who saw the detriments of many of the traditions of the Moslem and he threw all the influence of his powerful personality behind an effort to westernize Turkey. He led the revolution that deposed the rule of the sultan and gave Turkey her republican form of government. Here the fez and the veil, as symbols of a reactionary way of life, have been outlawed and the people boast of their separation of church (or mosque) and state, and of their freedom of religion.

Kemal Ataturk was the George Washington of Turkey. It seems to me that what countries like Egypt, Jordan, Syria, India, and many others need most desperately is the development of a forceful, intelligent national leader who will give them the kind of guidance Ataturk has given Turkey. In spite of his faults there is real hope for Turkey primarily because she did have an Ataturk.

At no other place in the world have I seen such an abundance of American manufactured goods for sale. Here one can buy anything from the latest American automobile to any of the small American gadgets. Turkey seems to have less of a dollar problem than almost any other country. At the International Bank meeting in Mexico City recently the president cited Turkey as the perfect example of what other countries must do to achieve a dollar balance.

The Arabs call this Ottoman capital "El Tarruck", meaning the "Earth-divider." It is strategically located on the Bosphorus, that important channel connecting the Black Sea with the Mediterranean.

Since the fall of the Byzantine Empire, Istanbul has in truth been an "earth-divider" — Europe from Asia, the East from the West, and the Cross from the Crescent.

A couple of days ago I took a boat trip from the Golden Horn near the Sea of Marmara up to the Bosphorus to the Black Sea. At some points I could have thrown a stone over my left into Europe and on my right it would have landed in Asia. No wonder Istanbul has been coveted by every great power from Constantine, who built it and named it Constantinople for himself, to modern Russia who now looks toward the Bosphorus with longing eyes. This is also the reason America has spent so much money bolstering the Turkish republic and why General Ridgway is down in Ankara cementing our relationship even as I write this.

Old Constantinople, renamed "Istanbul" following the revolution, has a wonderful climate and hundreds of attractions for the tourist, not the least of which are the moderate prices. Despite the not altogether successful efforts to Westernize it, it is still essentially an oriental city. Her life moves at a leisurely pace and her oriental type of bazaar, or market place, is one of the largest and most interesting shopping areas in the world. The Turk still likes an occasional meditative hour with his water pipe. An oriental reclining with his bubbling narghile pipe is a picture of relaxation and contentment. At such times nothing the west can offer will arouse his envy or disturb his reverie.

Yesterday I crossed the Golden Horn and went out to the Seven Towers, an old fortress guarding the Sea of Marmara and the entrance to the Bosphorus. From the top of this fortress the past of Constantinople seems to come to life. On both my right and my left were the ruins of her great walls, stormed unsuccessfully by many a would-be conqueror. Out there in the water I could almost see the victorious, plundering fleet of the Italian Crusaders. And above the city towers the hundreds of graceful minarets reminding one that Mohammed has been the real victor in this Moslem city. As if to add realism to this last thought, there in the fortress enclosure a few yards below me a Turkish movie company was shooting a scene in which the Turkish army of some Sultan was storming the citadel.

I wish time permitted more extensive travel in this land of the Sultans, but I must soon move westward again into Europe and a little closer to the home town.

AFL Picks St. Louis For '53 Convention, If No Discrimination

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Federation of Labor today selected St. Louis as next year's convention site—provided it is assured that Negro delegates will not face discrimination.

A spokesman for the AFL Executive Council said the AFL was chosen on the condition that George Meany, AFL secretary-treasurer, finds that "hotel accommodations and other conditions" will be satisfactory.

The spokesman said the AFL wanted assurance that its Negro delegates would be accommodated.

Nixon Appears to Have 'Sold' His Explanation, May Stay On Ticket

Summerfield Is Convinced He Will Stay

By The Associated Press

A sea of telegrams flooded into Washington today as the people answered Sen. Richard Nixon's plea that they tell the Republican National Committee whether they want Nixon to continue as the GOP candidate for vice president.

And Arthur Summerfield, chairman of the committee, told a news conference in Cleveland he is convinced Nixon will stay on the ticket.

Wayne J. Hood, the committee's executive director, called in reporters in Washington to tell them that the public is overwhelmingly in favor of retaining Nixon.

He pointed to a stack of yellow messages and said there were at least 20,000 telegrams in the pile.

Of the first 4,000 received at headquarters, one official said, only 21 suggested that Nixon be removed from the ticket.

Members of the committee willing to give their views on the Nixon affair were in unanimous agreement that Nixon should stay on as the vice presidential standard-bearer.

Republicans and Democrats all over the country joined in the seemingly endless tide of statements.

In general, this is what they said:

Republicans: Nixon gave a forthright report on his financial affairs and proved his own personal honesty.

There were words like "courageous," "a man of shining integrity," "all questions about his integrity were answered 100 per cent," "Republicans are proud of Nixon," "Magnificent statement," "Completely exonerated."

Democrats: Nixon did not give a full report of his financial affairs. The speech helped the Democratic cause.

There were words like "Nixon fanned out," "A soap opera drama," "Did not answer the questions," "The best service the Republican party could do would be to accept his resignation."

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, unsuccessful aspirant to the Democratic nomination for president, said he doubted whether Nixon did anything intentionally wrong in accepting the expense fund.

"Many members of Congress have businesses of one kind or another," he said and added that compensation for federal officials "ought to be such that any one, even a poor man, should be able to seek and hold any public office, including an ambassadorship."

The Western Union office here closes at 9 p. m. and several of the messages as a result did not get filed until Wednesday morning.

Congress Allows $1,120 Millions For Flood Works

KANSAS CITY (AP)—In the seven years the Pick-Sloan flood control program has been in force, Congress has appropriated one billion, 120 million dollars. Brig. Gen. W. E. Potter, Missouri River division engineer, said today.

Potter, addressing the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, said progress in developing flood control and other benefits along the Missouri will soon make critics of the program "criticizers of history, while the people of the valley will be enjoying the first fruits of their labor."

He said the engineers have built four major dams—Fort Peck in Montana, Harlan County in Nebraska, Kanopolis in Kansas and Cherry Creek in Colorado. In addition to this, 200 miles of Missouri River agricultural levees have been built.

In the "started" program, Potter listed Tuttle Creek in Kansas, Oahe Dam in South Dakota, and Gavins Point on the Nebraska-South Dakota border.

Potter said he firmly supports soil conservation as a measure to save basin farms because "unless we save the soil, the rest of the program will fall far short of fulfilling the needs of the people and permitting the valley to attain its full destiny."

If you want to puree fruits and vegetables use a sieve or a food mill rather than a strainer. A sieve has its wire mesh supported by crosswires and so is strong enough to stand having food forced through it; a strainer is not reinforced in this way and if foods are forced through it, the wire mesh is likely to pull away from the frame.

Summon Ike To Testify In Murder Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—Attorneys for George Edward Grammer, accused of killing his wife and trying to make it look like an accident, have summoned Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to appear as a character witness in the murder trial beginning Oct. 6.

Anthony S. Federico, counsel for the 36-year-old New Yorker, said the Republican presidential candidate was among 26 witnesses called because Grammer once served in an Army counter-intelligence unit which threw him into contact with Eisenhower.

Eisenhower reportedly once gave Grammer a recommendation for employment.

Federico said he expected a deputy sheriff to serve the summons on the general late Thursday when Eisenhower speaks here at the 5th Regiment Armory.

Courthouse attaches said Eisenhower probably would be excused from attending the trial because of the campaign and that a letter from him would be acceptable.

Dorothy May Grammer, 33, was found dead in her car after it careened down a hilly road in North Baltimore. It first appeared she died from injuries sustained in the crash of her car at the bottom of the hill, but medical examination later showed she had been fatally injured before the crash.

HOW MUCH FUN do you get from a GALLON OF GAS ?

Power Steering now available on Super as well as Roadmaster. Optional at extra cost.

"MILES PER GALLON" is something everyone talks about—and Buick owners take pride in telling us that they're doing OK on this score.

But the kind of miles is important too. The real pay-off you get when you own a Buick is in what happens while you're turning gas into power.

Every drop of gas sets off a tiny tornado of compacted energy in Buick's Fireball 8 Engine.

You swoop from a standing start to any speed the law or good sense permits with effortless smoothness, thanks to Dynaflo Drive.*

You soar over the road with magnificent levelness—buoyed by big soft coil springs on every wheel—coddled by a dozen other features which make up Buick's million dollar ride.

The car holds direction like an airliner on the beam. You snug into turns with sure-footed poise—ease your grip on the steering wheel and feel the car seek a straight course again like a compass points to the pole.

This is travel as you've always hoped to find it—relaxed, carefree, luxurious, happy—while you leave the miles behind.

Yes indeed—life's different in a Buick. How different you should find out firsthand.

How about letting us give you a sample—any day you say?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

1814 The WHITE HOUSE, Washington, D.C.

LANDMARKS IN HISTORY—This edifice, officially called the President's Palace, was commenced in 1792, but, when John Adams and his wife, Abigail, moved in, in 1800, it was unfinished and the grounds, swampland. During Jefferson's occupancy, his interest in architecture and gardening led to improvement in both interior and grounds. Next, came Madison and the War of 1812, during which, in 1814, the British burned the mansion, Dolly Madison, however, escaping with her pet macaw and the famous portrait of George Washington by Stuart. By 1817, a new building had been completed, under the supervision of James Hoban (the architect of the original). It was called the Executive Mansion and later the White House. Due to hard usage, through the years, it has been found necessary, for safety's sake, to thoroughly reconstruct the interior, taking every precaution to eventually restore the historic edifice to its original magnificent appearance. Past Presidents' Group Of Local Garden Clubs Passes Goal at Sale

The plant, bulb and iris sale sponsored by the Past Presidents' Club of the Sedalia Garden Clubs which was held Friday in the yard of Mrs. C. L. Carter's home, 700 South Beacon, was a real success. Proceeds from the sale totaled $56.80 and will be used to further the Garden Clubs beautification program in Sedalia.

The women had hoped for a pretty day and the morning was ideal. They had wanted a large crowd and by starting time, 9 a. m., the yard was filled with garden club women with contribution of surplus plants from their own gardens. Then they had thought if they just could clear $35 they would be satisfied, that is the cost of an evergreen planting to be put on State Fair Boulevard—they came out with their $55 plus $21.80.

The contributions, which were placed on long tables in the yard for sale, included different varieties of lilies, peonies, lilies-of-the-valley, iris, golden glow, ageratum, oriental poppies and others, together with 50 different named varieties of iris from Mrs. Carter's garden.

Coffee and doughnuts were served at tables with red and white covers and centered with red roses.

The members of the ways and means committee of the Past Presidents' Club of the Sedalia Garden Clubs in charge of the sale were: Mrs. Ida Harriman, chairman, Mrs. T. E. Gasperson, Mrs. L. H. Hodges and Mrs. A. A. Ferguson.

Polio Victim Weds Soldier Sweetheart While In Hospital

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. — An attractive 19-year-old polio patient was married to her soldier sweetheart as she lay on a "rocking bed" at St. Francis Hospital here last night.

A rocking bed is a moving device which assists a polio patient's breathing.

Miss Peggy Beardsley and Pfc. Robert Neil King, 20, both of Malden, Mo., made their vows in a hospital staff room converted into a chapel for the ceremony.

The couple had gone together for five years through high school at Malden and made plans for a June wedding. However, the bridegroom could not get a furlough from his post at Camp Cook, Calif. Miss Beardsley first complained of a pain in her back on Sept. 10. Her illness was diagnosed as bulbar type polio at the hospital here. She spent five days in an iron lung and was then transferred to a new rocking bed for treatment.

Pfc. King was granted an emergency furlough after learning of his sweetheart's illness. They decided to go ahead with the original wedding plans.

The bride wore a lace cap, pink veil and jacket and held a white Bible and orchid during the double ring ceremony. Her sweetheart stood beside the rocking bed.

Hospital attaches said the bride has no use of her legs now but expressed the hope that she would respond to treatment.

Caudle Testifies McGrath Could Blast White House

WASHINGTON — T. Lamar Caudle testified today that former Attorney General J. Howard McGrath once told him, "I know enough about the White House to blow it to smithereens if I could."

Caudle also said McGrath, his old boss in the Justice Department, reported Caudle lost his job because of "a White House clique."

Caudle said the former attorney "clique" that was behind Caudle's dismissal as assistant attorney general last November was also "after" McGrath.

McGrath was ousted as attorney general last April a few hours after he fired Newbold Morris, government cleanup man.

Caudle was closing several days of testimony before a house judiciary subcommittee headed by Rep. Chelf (D-Ky.) which is investigating the Justice Department.

He did not elaborate on McGrath's statement about the White House.

He told the committee yesterday he looks upon his dismissal by President Truman as "a grave injustice."

And he testified yesterday he has been told that this view is shared by the man who fired him—President Truman. Not so, rejoined the White House.

Caudle also said yesterday he has been told by President Truman that he agrees the ouster was unjust. Teh White House later said that isn't so.

At any rate, Caudle told the House members today that friends, after visits to the White House last spring, reported that the President would take some action in Caudle's behalf "after the election."

Caudle said he did not receive this report directly but by hearsay. "I doubt now that it will ever come," he added.

Caudle told newsmen after the hearing that McGrath "probably will jump on me" for the statement about information blowing up the White House. He added, "I wish I hadn't brought it up."

At the hearing, Caudle was asked he knew who belonged to the "White House clique." He said he didn't know, for sure, but he could guess.

Then he named White House Staff Members Charles Murphy, Dave Stowe, and the late Joseph Short.

Caudle said he still doesn't know what "outside activities" of his the President had in mind when he dismissed him. The White House said Caudle was ousted for "activities incompatible with his job."

"I've been a loyal Democrat," Caudle said but he added he had deliberately tried to keep political favoritism out of his divisions.

Caudle testimony referring to a Justice Department manual which indicates outside work by government lawyers is permissible as long as it doesn't interfere with official duties.

"If that is wrong," he asserted, "it should not be allowed to remain in print."

Rep. Keating (R-NY) agreed with Caudle's view, pointing out that McGrath had testified his outside income during one year of his service amounted to about $40,000 in addition to his government salary.

Daily Quail Take Cut In Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY — The State Conservation Commission today cut the daily and possession limits on quail to eight birds for the 1952 season.

For years the limits on quail have been ten a day and ten in possession. But increasing hunting pressure, plus at least the temporary drawback of a poor nesting season, made the reduction in limits necessary, the commission said.

The fish and game agency also put a limit on the number of rabbits that can be killed—ten a day after Oct. 15 this year. There has been no limit previously.

The action, the commission said, should give Missouri's growing number of hunters a better chance at some game. It should also help see the quail brood stock through the winter. Then, dependent on a good nesting season next summer, the 1953 bob-white population can bounce back to normal.

The quail season this year will be from Nov. 10 through Dec. 31, the same as recent seasons.

The commission said this year, mink and muskrat cannot be hunted with a gun and dog. For this season—December only—they can be taken only by means of traps.

Raccoon and fox populations are up so the hunting and trapping season on them has been extended. It runs from Nov. 10 to January 15, 1953, with an additional five days for selling the pelts.

The commission relaxed regulations on some types of fishing for next year. The daily limit on crappie was increased from 12 to 20 and all limits were taken off the green sunfish (black perch) and bluegill.

The commission also tightened regulations to ban the trick of "telephoning fish"—stunning them by electric shock generated with an old-fashioned hand crank telephone.

Hunting coyotes from the air also was put on the prohibited list.

Justice Probe Of 'Outside Funds' Starts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special Justice Department examination of federal laws in relation to "outside financial help" received by public officials is under way amid considerable confusion as to how it got started.

The White House at first claimed credit for originating the idea in connection with the $18,000 expense account provided Sen. Richard Nixon by California supporters, and then disclaimed having anything to do with it whatsoever.

At the Justice Department, where a crisp "No comment" greeted all inquiries about the undertaking, the indications were that the project was an extension of Atty. Gen. McGranery's apparent policy of "doing something" about everything that comes up within his jurisdiction.

McGranery, latest of a series of government "clean-up" men, took office last May in succession to Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath, who went out under loud Republican criticism that he had "dragged his feet" on matters requiring prompt action.

The department itself has not as yet officially admitted any inquiry into the matter of supplemental funds for federal officers. However, shortly after it became known that McGranery had directed aides to study the statutes in this connection, a White House secretary told reporters that President Truman himself had asked the attorney general to look into the matter of Nixon's supplemental funds.

A few hours later the same secretary announced he had been mistaken, that the White House had given no directive to the Justice Department.

"There has been no White House intervention at all," he said.

One report had it that McGranery ordered the inquiry after the President "mentioned" the Nixon fund to him after last Friday's weekly Cabinet meeting.

The Justice Department just wouldn't discuss the situation at all.

However, it was learned that Nixon's speech of last night leaving to the Republican campaign managers the question of whether he will continue as the GOP candidate for vice president made no difference in the study project.

These sources emphasized that what was under way was not an investigation of Nixon himself, or his special funds, but a broad study into the whole question of non-government financial support for persons in public office.

Suggestions by some newsmen that the department might have in mind some action against the Republican vice presidential candidate brought expressions of shocked surprise at the Justice Department. Reporters got the impression that the attitude there was that the Nixon matter was one to be settled inside the Republican party command itself.

'Crusading Dollars' Fund Starts for Nixon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Even before Sen. Richard M. Nixon's speech last night more than 400 contributors had donated $750 to the informal "Crusading Dollars" GOP fund-raising committee.

Treasurer Jim Reynolds announced last night that the committee has received contributions ranging from $1 to $50.

The project was started shortly after the disclosure of Sen. Nixon's $18,000 private fund for his expenses.

Taft Not Considering Taking Nixon's Place

DAYTON, O. (AP) — The Dayton Journal Herald last night quoted Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio as saying he was not considering the possibility of being the Republican vice presidential candidate should Sen. Richard Nixon be removed from the ticket.

Taft also was quoted as saying he would have chosen Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur as his running mate if he had been given the presidential nomination.

Leaves His Removal Up to Committee...

Nixon Explains Fund In Appeal To Nation to Decide His Fate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Richard M. Nixon carried his fight for political life to a nation-wide audience last night, and then moved on to Montana today before a decisive meeting with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The young GOP vice presidential nominee rested his fate in an unprecedented TV-radio appeal to the American public. He left the question of his removal squarely up to the party's national committee.

Nixon said he plans to meet Gen. Eisenhower "somewhere in West Virginia." The time and place probably will be set today after Nixon keeps his speaking appointment in Missoula, Mont. Nixon interrupted his Western campaign tour to return to Los Angeles and make his plea to the nation.

Like in a telegram from Cleveland after Nixon's speech, labeled it "magnificent" and asked to see his running mate "at once."

A flood of telegrams and phone calls followed Nixon's dramatic offer to submit the make-or-break decision to the National Committee.

"Wire and write the Republican National Committee whether you think I should stay or whether I should get off," Nixon exhorted, "and whatever their decision is, I will abide by it."

The appeal came after Nixon, the young man who zoomed to political prominence in a short six years, said "not one cent of the $18,000 (supplemental expense fund raised by supporters here) ever went to me for my personal use."

He denied any moral wrongdoing, reiterating: "Every penny of it was used to pay for political expenses that I did not think should be charged to the taxpayers of the United States."

His wife, tittian-haired Patricia Nixon, appeared with him on the program carried on a network of 62 television and 750 radio stations at a cost estimated at more than $75,000 by GOP National Chairman Arthur H. Summerfield. The Republican National Committee and the Republican senatorial and congressional campaign committees paid it.

Mrs. Nixon sat composed as her husband explained his position, first seated at a desk and then rising to make his closing points.

He lauded Eisenhower as "the man to clean up" corruption and Communism. Later, at the airport leaving for Missoula, he declared:

"What happens to me is not important; what happens to Patricia and our two youngsters is not important; what is important is what happens to our country... What Gen. Eisenhower stands for is for the good of all Americans."

His press secretary, James Bassett, took aboard a six-inch stack of telegrams. The main Los Angeles Western Union office reported handling 5,000 telegrams regarding Nixon within four hours after his speech.

The NBC switchboard in Hollywood was jammed for 2½ hours. Billie Clevenger, chief operator said. She said the vast majority of callers were pro-Nixon.

Nixon gave details of his own financial status and challenged his Democratic opponents, Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Sen. John J. Sparkman to do likewise. He hit Stevenson's reported fund for Illinois officials and Sparkman's employment of his wife.

Gov. Stevenson, in Baltimore, declined to comment on Nixon's remarks. But Sparkman, in Grand Island, Neb., retorted:

"Nobody has accused me of getting $18,000 and I haven't any expense fund."

Sen. Sparkman said his wife had worked 10 years and "earned every dollar she ever got." He added that he has never used all of the money allotted him for office expense, saying, "I turn back $10,000 or $12,000 every year."

Senators receive $50,000 annually for office and operational expenses over and above a $15,000 salary. Nixon did not give a breakdown of his $50,000 allowance.

He contended there were additional political demands "taxpayers shouldn't be required to finance."

He did not give the breakdown of expenditures of the controversial $18,235 fund in his talk. But he released an audit report from Price, Waterhouse and Co., accountants, showing:

Total disbursement of $18,168.87, of which $5,102.15 went to Nixon directly, $12,876.72 to persons other than Nixon, from Nov. 15, 1950, to Aug. 20, 1952. The balance remaining was given as $86.13.

The largest single item listed was $4,237.54 for engraving 16,500 Christmas cards in 1950 and 25,000 in 1951. Airline, auto and hotel bills for Mr. and Mrs. Nixon totaled $2,306.54.

The legality of the fund — which also included recording, postage, stationery and advertising expenses aggregating $5,000 — was upheld by a Los Angeles legal firm engaged by Dana C. Smith, Pasadena attorney and fund trustee.

Elmo H. Conley, a partner in the firm, gave this opinion to Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, Eisenhower's campaign chairman:

"It is our conclusion that Sen. Nixon did not obtain any financial

Telegrams, Piled Hip Deep, Overwhelmingly Vindicate

By The Associated Press
Republican national campaign headquarters in Washington was hip-deep today in still uncouneted thousands of telegrams from every corner of America.

A spokesman said the communications overwhelmingly vindicated Sen. Richard Nixon.

The GOP vice presidential nominee's nation-wide radio-TV appeal that people let party headquarters know how they felt about his explanation of an $18,000 political fund drew what some called an unprecedented response.

An official report from party headquarters was scheduled later in the day.

GOP national committeemen who could be reached for comment were almost unanimously in favor of retaining Nixon on the ticket.

There was no immediate comment from either the White House or the Democratic National Committee.

Shortly after Nixon told a multi-million radio-TV audience last night that he was innocent of wrongdoing and felt he should stay on the ticket as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's running mate, Western Union offices were swamped. Many were forced to call in emergency crews.

Newspapers over the country were deluged with request for the address of the GOP national headquarters — something Nixon forgot to mention.

Many people telephoned Washington rather than send telegrams, saying, "Western Union" was too swamped to take their messages. Others wired Nixon or Eisenhower direct.

Many wanted to contribute money to a "Nixon fund." Some women were crying as they called for the GOP address. Others said Nixon ought to be running for president.

In political circles reaction followed party lines, on the whole. Eisenhower indicated to a Cleveland audience, which earlier had heard Nixon's dramatic plea, that he favored keeping his young running mate.

Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, who earlier had urged the American public to withhold criticizing Nixon until the facts were known, withheld his own comment in Baltimore last night.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston, South Carolina Democrat, said Nixon did not "answer the questions that people want to know." No matter what happens, he said, the party has been hurt. "If Nixon resigns it would upset the ticket, if he doesn't it weakens the corruption issue."

Gov. Thomas Dewey of New York called Nixon's talk "a superb statement by a man of shining integrity and great purpose in the service of his country."

Other comment: Rep. Albert Gore, Tennessee Democrat — Nixon fanned out. He struck out when he didn't say what the fund was for. . . . The best service the Republican party could do would be to accept his resignation.

Sen. Joseph McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican — It was a great speech and I believe it clearly vindicates Dick Nixon in the eyes of the nation.

Sen. Milton R. Young, North Dakota Republican — He may wind up more popular than ever — people will sympathize with him knowing he's a poor man, even though some of them may not approve of the fund.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Illinois Republican — Nixon's speech will go deep into the hearts of the American people. . . . I wonder if the candidates on the other side will do likewise and clarify the charges leveled at them.

These were typical comments of the Republican National Committee:

McIntyre Faries, California — I think Nixon certainly proved himself by his speech. All questions about his integrity were answered 100 per cent.

Jess Gard, Oregon — Dick has made a complete admission of all his financial affairs and has fully exonerated himself as far as the money is concerned.

Harry Darby, Kansas — I am sure American people accepted the explanation as not only complete but satisfying.

David T. Martin, Nebraska — "Nebraska Republicans demand that Sen. Nixon remain on ticket."

G. Mason Owlett, Pennsylvania — The attempt to smear Nixon will be a tremendous boomerang against the Democrats."

Several others said they would rather not comment as yet.

On the other hand: Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, a member of the Democratic National Committee, said: "Nixon made a very weak case for himself. He can't give a breakdown of the fund."

The public reaction was spontaneous in every nook and corner of the country.

Kansas City reported that some women were crying as they telephoned newspapers and radio stations for information about how to address wires to Nixon. Three women in Rochester, N. Y., said Nixon should be running for president, not vice president.

In traditionally Democratic Texas, newspapers and telegraph offices in larger cities were swamped. The Dallas GOP headquarters reported 700 calls in an hour. Western Union Manager P. A. Hoag of San Antonio said about 500 early messages sent all favored Nixon. GOP National Committee Jack Porter of Houston said he was confident the Democratic leaders "now wish they had never heard of the Nixon fund."

Minneapolis Western Union spokesmen said the reaction was the "biggest thing we've ever seen with the Minneapolis office alone handling 5,000 calls per hour."

Albuquerque, N. M., Western Union said only two of an estimated 300 telegrams there expressed anti-Nixon sentiments.

GOP Leaders Impressed By Sen. Nixon

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Republican leaders in the St. Louis area have been personally impressed by Sen. Richard Nixon's "public audit" of an $18,000 expense fund over a nationwide radio-television hookup last night.

Perry Compton of Montgomery City, state GOP chairman, believed that if Nixon, the party's vice-presidential candidate, could make a personal appearance in Missouri "we'd carry the state in November for sure."

"I'm positive that if Nixon could make a speech like that here we'd have no trouble in Missouri," said Compton.

A. D. (Bud) Welsh of St. Louis, the party's national committeeman from Missouri, declined to make a positive statement on Nixon's appearance last night. "Nixon indicated the national committee may have to decide whether he stays on the ticket," said Welsh and as a possible judge he felt he should not make any comment at this time.

Rudy Turilli of Stanton, a GOP presidential elector, described Nixon's account as proof of "his loyalty as a real American citizen."

Paul Hoffman Picked Nixon for Vice President

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1932, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — A lot of people have been wondering how dynamic Dick Nixon, 39 years old and a newcomer in politics, managed to latch on to the No. 2 spot on the Republican ticket at Chicago.

The story is one of an extremely astute and opportunistic young man plus the hit-and-miss habits of a political convention in picking its candidates — especially the vice president.

Nixon, a resident of Whittier, California, near Pasadena, had come to know an automobile salesman in Pasadena, Paul Hoffman, who later became president of Studebaker and took over the most important reconstruction job in the world — head of the Marshall Plan. Last winter Hoffman became one of the three top advisers to General Eisenhower and head of the citizens for Eisenhower committee.

Prior to the Chicago convention, Eisenhower cohorts were casting around for a way to wean the powerful California delegation away from Governor Warren and over to Ike. Nixon was approached by Hoffman as to how this could be done. Naive at politics, Hoffman even suggested that Nixon himself run for president in the California primary, with the idea of weakening Warren's hold on California's 76 votes.

However, Nixon, not anxious to buck either Governor Warren or Congressman Tom Werdell, who had already been drafted by old-guard Republicans to run against the governor, declined. Instead he suggested that he would become a delegate from California and work from within to switch Warren delegates over to Eisenhower on the second ballot.

Nixon figured that as a senator, he would be given the courtesy of picking ten delegates, and with this as a nucleus he could make sure that California was in Eisenhower's column before the balloting had gone more than one round.

In order to stir up Eisenhower sentiment in California, Nixon sent out 25,000 letters to registered GOP voters, asking: "Who is your choice for president, assuming that Governor Warren is not nominated?"

This mailing job may have been one expense to which the so-called "millionaires' club" donated Governor Warren, however, got wind of the Nixon ploy. Never having cared much for the ambitious young senator from California, a mutual friend, Bernard Brennan, also a member of the millionaires' club, put the quietus on Nixon's vote-results.

However, Nixon arrived at Chicago with a tacit understanding from Paul Hoffman that he would do his best for Ike inside the California delegation and that, in turn, would give him favorable consideration for vice presidency. At Chicago, Nixon more than kept his word.

It was he who swung California over to the Eisenhower point of view when it came to the debate over the Langle amendment, and it was he who literally grabbed the microphone away from Senator Knowland, when it came to the hot debate over seating the Georgia delegation.

After Ike was nominated, Paul Hoffman kept his word. So with Hoffman backing him and a friendly nod from Governor Dewey, plus Dick's record on Hiss and the plan to open up on Governor Stevenson's deposition for Hiss, the young senator from California had the Number 2 spot on the Republican ticket in the bag.

Contracts And Gifts
One danger a senator risks if he accepts "expense" money from outsiders is that some of his benefactors may have contracts with the government and that he in turn may make representations to the government on their behalf. This is against the law.

For instance, some of Nixon's benefactors, or their attorneys, did have government contracts as follows:
K. T. Norris, president of the Norris Stamping Co., has a contract with the defense department for making shells and cartridges estimated at around $25,000,000. Earl Adams is attorney for Guy Atkinson, a builder with large government contracts.

In somewhat different category is Norman Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times and Los Angeles Mirror, who is also the largest stockholder in the Title Insurance and Trust Co., which has underwritten all titles of the oil companies operating in the Tideland oil area. These underwriting policies total $48,000,000 and should the government finally take over Tideland oil wells, Mr. Chandler's company might be stuck with indemnifying the oil companies $48,000,000.

Senator Nixon, of course, voted consistently and vigorously for Tideland Oil. Undoubtedly he would have done so whether Chandler had contributed to his expense fund or not, because California sentiment is predominantly that way. However, no senator can afford to be in the position of having his vote under suspicion — especially when he's running for vice president.

It is quite possible furthermore that Senator Nixon might make representations at the defense department regarding the Norris Stamping Co., not knowing that K. T. Norris had contributed to his expense fund. If so, then he would be in violation of the criminal code, title 18, Sec. 231.

It consists of a country club set in a residential area where even during the depression the minimum restriction on a house was $15,000.

The San Marino group was looking around for a candidate to run against Voorhis even before they spotted Nixon, in fact even placed an ad in local newspapers. From this start, a "committee of 100" was organized, headed by Roy Day, a local newspaper publisher, though the San Marino group continued to be the real nucleus of the Nixon movement.

SECOND MAN on the Ticket

GOVERNOR WARBURTON asked quietly, "Bill, what's on the schedule today?"
"An easy day, Governor. Lunch with the Governor of Mississippi, over at the Governor's mansion. Nonpolitical. Couple of conferences in the afternoon. No speeches."

"And tomorrow?" the Governor asked.
"Mostly a train ride, then the Birmingham speech tomorrow night. Next stop, Hydetown."

"That's what I'm thinking," said the Governor. "Next stop, Hydetown." He glanced at me. "Roy, how was the plane service to Hydetown?"

"Not good, Governor."

"Plane crowded?"

"Not very."

"Then I suppose we could get accommodations without too much trouble?"

"We?" said Bill.

"I was thinking I might make a quick trip to Hydetown and talk to Miss Hattie," the Governor said.

"You mean leave the train?"

"Why not?" the Governor said mildly.

"There's nothing on the schedule tomorrow but a train ride. I'll be in Birmingham for my speech tomorrow night, Bill."

"And how do you think you're going to get to Birmingham, Governor?"

"Fly."

"No," Bill said. "Positively no. You'd be recognized on the plane. It would start a raft of rumors."

"I'll take that chance," the Governor said. "I have to." He looked at his watch. "It's about time to call on the Governor of Mississippi. Bill, you work out the details. Get the plane tickets. Roy, you'll come with me."

"If anybody goes, I'm going," Bill said.

"You'll be needed on the train."

"But, Governor, how about your Birmingham speech? You haven't prepared your Birmingham speech."

The Governor hesitated a moment. "I'll take Lucy along," he said. "I'll dictate it to her on the plane."

"Not Lucy," Bill said. "McDonald will wonder what happened to her. She can't go."

"Then I'll speak off the cuff in Birmingham," the Governor said. "I've done it before. Now look here, Bill, get John Mills on the telephone and ask him to meet us at the airport."

BILL scowled, and pressed his lips together, and blew out a hissing breath of protest, but he was on the telephone calling the airport when I left the Governor's suite. I had a good lunch at a cafe on Capitol Street and walked to the train. I was tired, and was on my way to my drawing room when I met Clyde McDonald in the aisle. His eyes opened wide.

"Say," he said, "I thought you were in Hydetown."

"I just got back," I said wearily, and it was an instant before I realized what his words meant. I looked at him sharply and said, "What gave you the idea I was in Hydetown?"

A grin spread on Clyde McDonald's fat, malicious face. "Grapevine," he said.

I frowned. It was not like Lucy Strawn to be indiscreet, and I was choosing the words I would say to her as McDonald pushed on past me. I hesitated a moment, then followed and saw him getting his suitcase out of his drawing room.

"Going somewhere?" I asked.

"I'm dropping off here in Jackson," he said.

"We thought you'd be staying with us until we got to Hydetown," I said.

"I don't wait for news to come to me," Clyde said, and gave me a one-sided grin. "I go after my news."

"Have a good trip," I said, and turned into my own drawing room. I waited there, watching out the window, until I saw him get on the train, suitcase in hand, then I went down to the platform and followed him. He went into the station, bought a ticket and moved toward the gate. A chalked notice stated the train would leave at 2:18. I looked up the 2:18 in the timetable. It was not a Washington train. I was sure then where Clyde McDonald was bound. He was going to Hydetown, and he had undoubtedly received a telegram from Melvin Fisher. That was how he knew I had been to Hydetown.

I telephoned the Governor's suite at the hotel, and Lucy Strawn answered. She told me that Bill and the Governor had gone on to the Governor's mansion for lunch, and I said, "How about your luncheon date?"

"I'm waiting," she said. "Why?"

"It will be a long wait," I said.

"Clyde went to Hydetown."

"He did?" Lucy cried. "That's swell. Then I can go with you and the Governor, after all."

"It's up to the Governor," I said.

"Roy," Lucy said, "the plane leaves at 7 o'clock, and I'm planning to get three tickets."

LUCY STRAWN awakened me. She pushed the door of my drawing room open an inch or so and I heard her urgent whisper. "Snap out of it, Roy. It's late."

My window curtain was nearly closed, but through the gap at the bottom I could see that it was dusk outside.

I dressed and packed my suitcase, but did not take time to shave. I lugged the suitcase to the Governor's car, and found Lucy waiting with a portable typewriter, a small overnight case and a Gladstone bag belonging to the Governor.

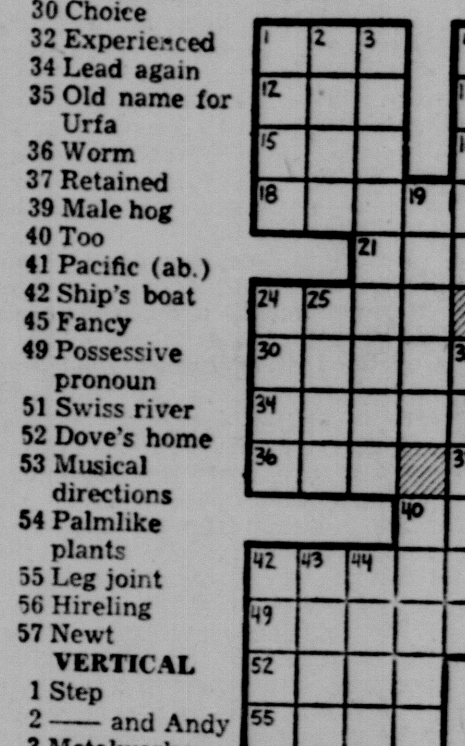

"Come on," said Lucy, and picked up her overnight case. I grunted and reached for the portable and the Governor's bag. She led the way to the station platform and I followed her in silence through the waiting room to a cab. Once inside it I said, "Don't be so conspiratorial. Where's the Governor?"

"We're picking him up," Lucy said. "Just relax, Roy."

On Atom Bombing Route

MONTREAL — If there is an atomic war Montreal is "Canadian target No. 1, and we cannot expect the enemy to by-pass us," said Brig. J. Guy Gaveau, Montreal civil defense head. "Bombers on their way from Murmansk to New York do not have to detour to visit Montreal," he noted.

Tenancy Law Hits Landlords

KARACHI, Pakistan — The legislative assembly of Pakistan's rich Punjab province bordering India have adopted a new tenancy law limiting landlords to retention of a maximum of 50 acres of cultivatable lands. Under the land reform law — one of the most advanced in Pakistan — feudal landlords are deprived of the right to eject tenants at will without reasonable excuse. It sets the division of produce between tenant and landlord at 60 per cent for the tenant, 40 per cent for the landlord. Punjab provincial officials estimated more than 500 landlords are affected by the land reform act.

The World Today—

Fingerprinting Is Main Idea

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — The presidential campaign, which is supposed to be a sober discussion of the issues, has been suddenly sidetracked and knocked into a ditch.

Fingerprinting is the main attraction now.

What Gen. Eisenhower and Gov. Stevenson have had to say in the past few days on the issues must have sounded to most voters like a small orchestra, offstage, while charges and counter charges about expense funds got the spotlight.

Personal business and private lives have become so entangled in the campaign that the original issues from now on will be only part of the campaign. There's a chance this may turn into one of the bitterest campaigns in history.

"Voters many of them, who thought in the beginning their only problem was choosing between the candidates and parties on those original issues, now will find themselves influenced by attitudes, personal revelations and perhaps more public disclosures. No one can predict the turn they'll take."

Sen. Richard Nixon, at the very moment he was pleading for his own political life last night before a national TV audience, did his best to drag Stevenson and his vice presidential running mate, Sen.

Stevenson's forbearance didn't prevent Stephen Mitchell—his own hand-picked chairman of the Democratic National Committee—from trying to make political capital out of Nixon's dilemma. Mitchell demanded Eisenhower fire Nixon.

Robins Take To California

PASADENA, Calif. — The robin population in Southern California is the largest in years and nobody seems to know why. However, the Audubon Society has ventured a theory or two:

The society believes that heavy storms in nearby mountains have forced the red-breasted birds down to warmer climes. Also the recent use of plants with red berries to landscape Southern California homes has some bearing on the case — robins love red berries.

Burmese Movies May Get Lift

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Movie houses which exhibit foreign films exclusively may have to devote at least one week in each month to the showing of Burmese films, according to a government ruling.

The Burmese government is expected to introduce legislation in Parliament shortly making it compulsory to show Burmese films.

The order is designed to bolster the local film industry.

Last year, exhibitors reported only 55 Burmese movies were made, 50 of which were silent productions. Against this, 699 American, 66 British, 138 Indian, 38 Russian and Chinese films were imported into the country.

FOOT ROT in CATTLE and SHEEP

This is a very reasonable subject, since there are quite a few cases right now and it will probably be on the increase for some time. This disease is caused by bacterial infection. It is particularly prevalent during wet seasons and in certain areas where drainage is not good. The skin of the animal becomes softened from being wet over long periods of time, the skin gets tender and is punctured easily permitting an entrance for these bacteria or germs. Soreness and swelling develop just above or between the claws or at the bulb of the heel. Causes the animal to become lame and stiff. Small grayish or yellow patches of dead tissue may be visible and a watery or pus discharge ooze from the surface. It has a foul odor.

The first consideration is to correct the cause if possible, such as drainage or cleaning up dirty lots. Some few cases may recover without medication but there is a hazard in taking such a chance. Many cases will respond to an external application of a good germicide such as Lysol Solution or better yet a mixture of Carbolic Acid, Alcohol and Crystal Violet which is packaged by almost all Serum Co. Internal medication with a Sulfa or Penicillin may be necessary. It could be that internal medication would be the cheapest in the long run because it is the surest and quickest.

Our experience has been that Penicillin is the most inexpensive and the most convenient. Generally it is only necessary to give one "shot." The dosage is based on bodyweight of the animal. We will be glad to be of service to you.

California Has Respect For Missouri

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—California's Bears plunged through their workouts this week with a new and profound respect for the Missouri Tigers they meet here Saturday in the first football clash between the two schools.

Old Missouri's splendid showing against Maryland, the team the experts picked to lead the nation this year, had the effects of a minor bombshell in the California camp.

"Any team that can lead Maryland for more than three periods and then lose by only three points in the last seconds of the game, is bound to give us trouble," California coach Lynn "pappy" Waldorf said.

Scout reports confirmed Waldorf's early appraisal of the 1932 creation which Missouri's Don Faurot paraded for the home folks last Saturday.

"They're fast, tricky and the possessors of fine aerial weapons," Waldorf said after reviewing reports by Hal Grant of his own staff and L. W. Ruesch. The latter is an old Northwestern assistant of Pappy's.

Saturday's game will bring the Bears into contention with their second batch of Tigers on successive Saturdays. Last week, California had to go all out to take the measure of the College of the Pacific Tigers, 34-13. The Bears fought their rivals from a small Stockton institution only 14-13 at halftime.

Missouri's big job will be to try to stop one of the hardest running fullbacks in the country, John Olszewski. This 190-pound thunderbolt is the runner-blocker Coach Waldorf considers a sure-fire candidate for All America honors this season.

Johnny O. was the big gun in California's attack. He powered for 123 yards against Pacific to set a new three-year yard gaining record for a California player. Olszewski's new mark of 1782 yards to date erased the old Bear mark of 1703 set by fullback Jackie Jensen, now a Washington Senators outfielder, in his senior year.

Olszewski also racked up two of his team's touchdowns against Pacific and the knee he injured last season showed no effects from hard usage.

California also suffered some serious casualties, notably starting right tackle on defense, Dwight Ely. He went out with a broken fibula bone in his right leg and will sit it out with another outstanding tackle, Bob Karper. The latter, one of the mainstays of the Bears line, hurt a knee in practice last week.

"We have plenty of troubles now and look for more if Missouri continues to play the kind of heads up ball it showed against Maryland," Waldorf preaches. Pacific showed up a lot of weaknesses for us. It completed 12 of 29 passes for 130 yards against us. Unless we sharpen our defense quick, we won't be able to stop a fine passer like Missouri's Tony Scardino. If Missouri's running game is anywhere near Pacific's, we are due for trouble on the ground also. Pacific ran through us for 197 yards on fifty plays."

Waldorf has had experience against the Split T and spread formations with which Missouri makes such good use. Howie Odell of Washington employed variations of the attack in 1930.

Although Waldorf contends California is not as deep in reserves as is popularly believed, the Missouri team will look at a sizeable Bear squad, both in bulk and numerically. They will have to defend against one of the slickest T-formation quarterbacks California has turned out in Billy Mais. He is an able field tactician as well as a swell spot passer.

Pitch Breaks Shantz' Wrist-- Weak Pitcher's Toss to Weak Batter May Decide Flag Race

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A pitch thrown by a hurler on a second division ball club to a batter with a handful of hits may have decided the 1932 American League pennant race.

The pitcher was the Washington Senators' Walt Masterson. The hitter was the Philadelphia Athletics' southpaw, Bobby Shantz.

The toss unleashed by Masterson yesterday in the second inning of a Washington-A's game fractured Shantz' pitching wrist and sent the New York Yankees pennant hopes soaring.

As a result of Cleveland's 10-1 loss to the Chicago White Sox yesterday, the Indians now trail the pennant-conscious Yankees by a game and a half.

The Indians have three games left and the Yankees six, three of

Jersey Joe, Others Said He Couldn't Fight--

Marciano Is New Heavyweight Champion

Kayos Wolcott In 13th Round With Right Hand

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rocky Marciano, the guy Jersey Joe Walcott and many others said "can't fight," is the new world heavyweight champion.

"They'll probably say he still can't fight," said trainer Charley Goldman shortly after the dynamic, 28-year-old flattened Walcott in 43 seconds of the 13th round with one perfect right and sent him into retirement.

"But who's going to beat him?" Marciano's manager, Al Weill, discussing the future of his fighter, said early today that Rocky's next opponent might be Rex Layne, Roland La Starza or Ezzard Charles.

"Maybe it will be Walcott again," added the portly manager. "Who knows? Maybe he'll change his mind and not quit. All I know is that I signed a contract to meet Walcott again in 90 days and if he wants that fight he can have it. Only it's got to be where I say—maybe Miami and maybe Chicago."

"If Walcott is really through, then we'll see about the others. He's gonna be a fighting champion, ain'tcha Rocky?" "Sure," said Rocky as he held a wet towel to a mouse under his left eye while blood trickled from a cut on his scalp and from a gash between his eyes. It took eight stitches to sew up an ugly inch and a quarter on his head and six to patch up the cut on his forehead.

"But first my wife and I are going to have a wonderful time," said Rocky. "We're going to go to New York and see every show in town. We're going to have a wonderful time."

All the while Rocky was in training for the climactic fight of his career, his wife Barbara was barred from camp. Although she expects a child in November, Barbara watched the thrilling slugfest along with 40,379 paying fans in mammoth Municipal Stadium.

She saw her husband, battered and bleeding, knocked down for the first time in his career, come back to end one of the most exciting battles of modern times with one perfectly executed right hand blow to Walcott's jaw.

Rocky followed with a left that grazed the stricken champion's head as the 38-year-old Walcott slowly fell to the deck. But it was the right that turned the tables just as it was Jersey Joe's one left hook that enabled him to knock the crown off Charles' head in the steaming heat of Pittsburgh on July 18, 1931.

Walcott's eyes went blank. The old guy, who put up one of the greatest fights of his long career, sank slowly to the canvas. One knee was twisted under him and his forehead rested on the floor as Referee Charley Daggert tolled the fatal 10. Then Walcott stretched out on his back.

Up until then it had gone mostly Walcott's way. Jersey Joe floored Marciano in the first round. It was the first time the Rock had ever gone down. But he was up at the four count.

It was a dilly the rest of the way. In the sixth, when they fought head to head, Walcott came out with a wide cut over his left eye while Rocky suffered his scalp wound.

The old gent was well ahead on the scorecards of all three officials at the end. Referee Charley Daggert had it 7-4-1; Judge Pete Tomasco scored it 7-5 and Judge Zach Taylor saw it 7-4.

The AP scorecard had Walcott in front 7-4-1. There was hardly a dissent in the house.

Thus, as he won the title, Jersey Joe lost it—with one blow.

At that stage the junior circuit could very well be knotted with the Indians and Yankees battling even-Stephen for 1932 honors.

In other words, it is possible little Bobby Shantz, the American League's leading hurler with 24 wins and seven losses, could have sent the race into a playoff by whipping the Yankees.

As matters now stand, Dykes will have to rely on one of his second string hurlers to meet the Yankees in one of the three games. And that one game could very well be the deciding one of the struggle.

Sports Roundup--

Greatest Heavyweight Fight In 21 Years, Maybe In History

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—This was one that will go down in the history of great heavyweight fights. There hasn't been a greater one in the past 21 years to our certain knowledge.

Going into the 13th round last night at Philadelphia Stadium, we didn't think Rocky Marciano had an earthly chance of winning the title from Jersey Joe Walcott. The boy from Brockton was behind, 7 rounds to 5, on our scorecard, and he appeared to be fading.

Then the Rock shot his right, and it landed flush on Walcott's jaw—almost the first punch of the round. It carried behind it every ounce in the sturdy frame of the shoemaker's son, and from the instant of its sickening impact there was never a doubt of what had happened.

Jersey Joe, an admirable old fighter in his final defense, went down as though he had been poleaxed. A left hook caught him as he fell, but it meant nothing. He was insensible as his head struck the floor, and there was never a chance he would get up again.

But as long as he was in there throwing those six-ounce gloves, the Pappy Guy from Caden gave us the roaring thrills as great a thrill as it is ever likely to get at a sports event. Marciano won the respect he had never known before. He fought his powerful young opponent with a heart and a fury which were at times astonishing.

Several times, even toward the end, Walcott ripped into Marciano with lethal left hooks to the body and head which almost sent the new champion down. Only a wonderful constitution kept Rocky on his feet. That is, of course, one of the requisites of a champion.

Marciano Pays Tribute to Joe After Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rocky Marciano was a humble boy in his dressing room last night after winning the heavyweight boxing championship.

His first remark, after hilarious wisecracks quieted down enough for the Rock to be heard, was a tribute to the vanquished Jersey Joe Walcott.

"He's a helluva fighter, a good tough guy," Walcott repaid him compliment in kind. He quit the ring.

Jersey Joe wants no more of the rough, tough Brockton, Mass., bully boy, who doesn't mind getting hit with everything but the kitchen sink while waiting to land just one punch.

Marciano's reticence may have been due to his physical condition. The Rock looked like anything but a champion as he entered the dressing room. He had a bad cut on his scalp, a big mouse under his left eye and a jagged gash on the end of his right eyebrow.

He was sick at the stomach and tired. Winning this title had been no tea party for the 28-year-old slugger.

He guessed that his head and eye cuts were the result of head butting. Asked if he ever thought he might not win, the Rock replied unhesitatingly, "Nope."

Peter Marciano, father of the new champion, sat in a corner and wept.

"I'm proud. I'm proud, he told anyone who cared to listen."

It seemed as if all of Brockton was in the small dressing quarters. Flash bulbs popped and people were milling around slapping backs and shouting what a great champion Rocky was.

On the other side of the stadium the scene was different. A heart broken Jersey Joe sat with head in hands. One of his brothers came in and broke into tears as he wrapped his arms around Walcott's sweaty body.

Old Jersey Joe, 38, had finally run out of gas.

Soviet Fails To Stall Reich Rearmament

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's effort to stall West German rearmament by making propaganda on German unity is being written off by American diplomats as a failure.

Authorities summarizing the results of an eight-note exchange between the Western powers and the Soviets on Germany's future said today they were convinced the Soviets have not succeeded in creating any serious new obstacles to plans for adding German forces to the West European defense set-up.

The treaty establishing the European Defense Community has still to get parliamentary action at both Bonn and Paris, but there is strong expectation here that the West German Bundestag will approve after sharp debate. There is if anything somewhat less optimism about French approval—not because of the Soviet diplomatic drive but because of strong French fears about the recreation of German military forces.

The United States, British and French Embassies in Moscow yesterday delivered identical notes to the German issue to the Soviet Foreign Office. The exchange was started by the Kremlin last March 10 and in the intervening six months there have been a total of four note exchanges. The initial Soviet proposal was that the Big Four governments should meet and talk about drafting a German peace treaty and the unification of East and West Germany. The most recent note from Moscow was along substantially the same lines.

The Western position, in the identical notes which London, Paris and Washington have sent in reply, has similarly been basically the same.

The Western Powers assert that if Germany is to be unified now it must be under an all-German government which must be chosen in free elections, and that therefore the initial step is to determine that conditions for free elections exist. This is the opposite of the Russian line.

Yesterday's note said that "the Soviet government evaded this clear issue."

Diver May Go Down Some 3,500 Ft. Today

Aboard Yacht Monsoon (AP)—A dive to 3,500 feet, providing further tests are successful, is planned today by Otis Barton, undersea explorer.

His steel diving bell, called the bathyscope, developed minor leaks when it was lowered only 100 feet yesterday near Santa Catalina island off the Southern California Coast.

Barton said it will be lowered today, empty, and if the leaks have been fixed he will then descend in it to 3,500 feet. Later in the week he hopes to set a new record of one mile.

B-50 Is 'Bottle Baby'

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—At Boeing Field there's a B-50 "bottle baby" that gets fed only in midair.

This B-50 is refueled in flight to check the refueling equipment. On each flight it takes on between 500 and 600 gallons of fuel.

The "bottle baby" returns to the field immediately and never gets a chance to use up the fuel, which is syphoned off to supply other planes. The B-50 has made about 100 such flights since the first of the year.

Reds Work College Grads

HONG KONG (AP)—College graduates in Red China this year need give no thought to their future—Communist boss Mao Tse-Tung and his henchmen will take care of that.

Under government edict, graduates in science and technology courses can look forward to assignments to specific work. Some of this will be on railroad and road projects in the far off deserts and mountains of Sinkiang and high Tibet.

Medical school graduates can be sure of one thing—they will not go into private practice. They will be needed for "factories, mines, epidemic prevention work and public hospitals for government functionaries," says the edict.

Reds Plan Reclamation
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Communist China has launched the peasants of Northeastern Hopeh province on a six-year plan to convert vast wastelands into forests, orchards, pastures and farmland, reports a Peiping radio broadcast.

The project calls for the reforestation of 2,500,000 acres of bare land and the building of 250,000 small earth dams in an area of 9,650 square miles, about the size of New Hampshire.

Goodbye Forever to Loose, Wobbly, Uncomfortable Plates
Snug Denture Cushions are a triumph of science, a sensational new plastic re-liner that ends the annoyance and irritation of loose, badly fitting false teeth. Absolutely harmless to gums or dentures.

No Sore, Irritated Gums
Sore, irritated gums are eased at once. No more chafing of wobbly dentures. All tender areas are gently cushioned. Eat corn-on-the-cob, steak, apples—talk, laugh as you please—plates "stay put" firmly, solidly. No falling or clicking.

When Gums Shrink
It's not your dentist's fault that gums shrink gradually—leave spaces between the plates and the mouth. Nature does this. Snug Denture Cushions resurface plates so there are no gaps between plate and gums.

One Re-Liner Can Last Months—Easily Replaced
One Snug Denture Cushion re-liner can last for 2 to 6 months, according to the individual mouth. Stays soft and pliable—does not harden and ruin plate. Peels right out when ready to replace with new cushion.

Janet this week celebrates her 1,000th performance without a miss as Enns. Nellie Forbush. Considering that she is pneumonia-bait every time she washes her hair during the show, that's quite a record.

Fourth of Same Family Is Dead Of Polio Today

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Polio has struck the Leo B. Linnemanns family its fourth fatal blow in nine days.

Barbara, 13 died last night. Ten days ago, the Linnemanns parents took a drive in the country with the seven of their eight children who lived at home. They were looking forward to the time when their oldest, John, 20, a Marine, could rejoin them.

The next day, Sunday, 16-year-old Paul was hospitalized with bulbar polio. He died on Monday, the day his sister Lorraine, 4, became ill. Lorraine died Tuesday, Mary Ann was stricken on Thursday, the day of Paul and Lorraine's double funeral.

After Mary Ann died Saturday night, the grieving father said, "A persons has to be afraid to wake up in the morning."

Sunday morning Barbara, 13, awakened with the headache and stiff neck which had announced bulbar polio three times before. She died 12 hours after Mary Ann's funeral this morning.

Two Hour Tear Gas Barrage Stops Riot

CHESTER, Ill. (AP)—A two-hour tear gas barrage by state police on men and prison guards Tuesday night quelled a 27-hour rebellion by 300 convicts at Menard State Prison.

Three inmates were injured in the riot which began at supper time Monday as prison authorities awaited the arrival this week of a legislative committee to inspect the institution.

One policeman was injured slightly when a tear gas gun backfired. Warden Jerome Muncie estimated damage to the prison at $5,000.

Marianas To Get Settlers

GUAM (AP)—An attempt will be made soon to return human life to four uninhabited islands of the Marianas chain which stretches northward from Guam.

Fifty families on Saipan Island in the southern part of the chain are going to homestead on the tiny northern islands. The Marianas, administered by the United States under United Nations trusteeship, were ruled by the Japanese until ousted by United States forces in World War II.

The Japanese exported copra from the islands, and it is expected that the new settlers will add goats and pigs to the list.

Miracle Cushion Holds False Teeth Tight Eases Sore Gums

Goodbye Forever to Loose, Wobbly, Uncomfortable Plates
Snug Denture Cushions are a triumph of science, a sensational new plastic re-liner that ends the annoyance and irritation of loose, badly fitting false teeth. Absolutely harmless to gums or dentures.

No Sore, Irritated Gums
Sore, irritated gums are eased at once. No more chafing of wobbly dentures. All tender areas are gently cushioned. Eat corn-on-the-cob, steak, apples—talk, laugh as you please—plates "stay put" firmly, solidly. No falling or clicking.

When Gums Shrink
It's not your dentist's fault that gums shrink gradually—leave spaces between the plates and the mouth. Nature does this. Snug Denture Cushions resurface plates so there are no gaps between plate and gums.

One Re-Liner Can Last Months—Easily Replaced
One Snug Denture Cushion re-liner can last for 2 to 6 months, according to the individual mouth. Stays soft and pliable—does not harden and ruin plate. Peels right out when ready to replace with new cushion.

Done At Home—No Waiting

Snug Denture Cushions are thin sheets of a marvelous, scientific plastic material. Simply place one of these wonderful (upper or lower) cleaned denture (upper or lower) according to simple instructions in package, and presto! You have practically a new plate. No daily bother with adhesives.

Used Widely by Dentists

Snug Denture Cushions were first used by many dentists to tighten up loose plates. They were so effective that they are now available to the public. Tasteless, odorless—cleaned in a jiffy. Get Snug Denture Cushions today! 2 Liners for Lower or Upper Plates $1.50. Money back if not satisfied.

ple but I detest the constant packing and unpacking."

She used to travel by train but now makes it by car.

"Believe me, I know every filling station restroom in the nation!"

Rodgers and Hammerstein tell her she can stay with the show for 10 years. They expect it to tour that long. The road company makes millions more than the Broadway version, often playing auditoriums filled with 5,000 people. Janet doesn't think she will play the show that long, though. She'd like to get back in pictures, and she admits to a few nibbles during the run of the show here.

"I gave up pictures," she says, "because I was always getting parts where I'd be the girl who said 'Oh, Red' in a Red Skelton picture."

She tried for heavier roles but always got the stock answer. Too young or too much the all-American girl type. Then she went back to Broadway to test for the lead in Irving Berlin's "Miss Liberty."

At the audition the producers did cartwheels. They told her she was set for the leading part of the French girl.

"I walked out of the theater and up Broadway like something out of a B movie," she recalls. "Then I got to my hotel room and the phone rang. They had reconsidered. I was great but too much the all-American girl type. Sorry."

Janet, in desperation yelled into the phone:

"But I can wear bangs."

"Sorry."

Now came a call from Hollywood for a Bing Crosby musical. Although it had only been months since she had been told she was too young, she was turned down for the Crosby part because someone decreed she was too old for the part.

At a theatrical crisis in her life, she gambled her whole bankroll and created her nightclub act with the Blackbird twins. It went over and led to her success in "South Pacific."

Does she ever suffer from comparison with Mary Martin, who created the role? "Mary Martin is Nellie Forbush so I was bound to be compared with her at first. Then, too, we are somewhat alike in personality. But after a few shows I decided to stamp my own personality on the part. Where the Little Rock characterization was a natural for Mary, it rang money for me. I gave the role an Altona, Pa., interpretation and everything has been fine since."

To Hairdressers Show

Selva Coffelt and Lanta Coldwell went to Kansas City, Sunday, where they attended the fall show for hairdressers. Franco, Joseph and Victor were the guest artists and styled hair in the new fall trend known as the "Cosmo Direct Trim." The show was very informative and delightful.

Philippines Need Fish

MANILA (AP)—The Philippines government wants Filipino fishermen to go in for deep-sea fishing so the country can stop importing fish.

Dr. D. Villadolid, head of the Bureau of Fisheries, says Filipinos confine their operations to Philippine waters, which "are poor in fish."

"There is practically no limit to where we can go to fish in international waters," he said. "Some of the international fishing grounds are surprisingly close to our home ports."

TO REPLACE FAMED MANSION—This is the architect's sketch of an unusual 15-story "twin" office building to be erected by Ivor B. Clark on the 47th and 48th Street corners of New York's Fifth Avenue. The 47th Street site is now occupied by the famous Gould mansion, one of the last remaining relics of the Avenue's 19th Century residential magnificence. The old Goelet mansion, razed in 1942, stood on the 48th Street corner. The new building will be U-shaped, the two main parts seen in the sketch being connected in the rear.

Iranian Talks With American On Plans For Selling Iran Oil

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top Iranian political leader said today he is talking with an American businessman who says he can form a 140 million dollar company to transport and sell Iranian oil to Europe and Asia.

Hussein Makki, visiting Iranian deputy, told a reporter his discussions thus far are in the preliminary stage and that it is impossible to predict whether they will succeed. He did not name the businessman.

Mississippi Parties' Merger For Ike Okay

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Atty. Gen. J. P. Coleman has advised that a merger of Mississippi's White Republicans and the Democrats-for-Eisenhower electors on the ballot is illegal.

The Republicans suggested yesterday that the Democrats supporting Eisenhower withdraw their slate of electors and combine them on a new slate to be called the Independent-Republican.

Woman Pickpocket Caught

ROME (AP)—An Italian woman told police she picked the pockets of 35 religious pilgrims in one morning. She is now serving a jail term.

She was arrested in Northern Italy when a policeman saw her put in her provision bag a wallet she had stolen in a sanctuary. They searched her bag and found another 34 wallets. She confessed she had picked them up during the morning religious ceremonies.

One of 10 Most Wanted Men Taken

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Thomas Edward Young, 34, one of the FBI's "10 most wanted" fugitives, and his wife Margaret, 32, were surprised and captured yesterday by FBI agents in the wild, rugged Boise National Forest.

The couple, cornered on a lonely one-way mountain road, surrendered meekly although they were heavily armed.

The FBI had searched for the couple intensively since they escaped from the Fargo, N. D., jail last Dec. 27. They were held there after arraignment on charges of robbing two North Dakota Post-offices.

The two fugitives were arraigned

VD Rate Reduced
HEIDELBERG, Germany (P)—Venereal diseases, once the U. S. Army's biggest headache in Germany, has been reduced to almost "inconsequential" problem, Army authorities say.
The rate of infection has dropped steadily until today it is only 20 per cent of the 1946 rate.
The steady improvement has been maintained despite the influx of young inexperienced soldiers since the re-introduction of the draft.

Japanese Toys Popular
SYDNEY, Australia (P)—Japanese toys have been selling so well that unless import restrictions ease this year, the supply will not meet the demand, an importing company official said recently.
One company, believed to be the only one importing Japanese toys into Victoria, has already had to restrict allocations. One shop manager said he had to replenish one line three days after it appeared on the shelves. "When it comes to buying people forget international differences," he said.

Ex-Cowboy Makes Stagecoach Models
LONG BEACH, Calif. (P)—Once a Texas Panhandle cowpoke, William E. Jeffreys, 62, has spent the last six years building models of wagons and stage coaches used when he was a youth.
Recently, said Jeffreys, "I looked at the wagons and decided something was missing—it was the horses."
So now he's making miniature animals to go along with his models. Jeffreys' first miniature was of the chuck wagon he "followed on the XIT ranch back in 1908".

Vesuvius Inactive
NAPLES (AP)—Mt. Vesuvius, the picturesque volcano known to millions of travelers, is taking its longest rest since 1631.

While the 3,891 foot mountain which forms a backdrop for the beautiful Bay of Naples, continues to smolder, it has been inactive in the scientific sense since March, 1944, says Prof. Antonio Parascandola of Naples University.

The professor made a survey of the crater recently after published reports that astrologers were predicting an eruption. The professor said tests showed underground heat below the crater exceeds 370 degrees centigrade.

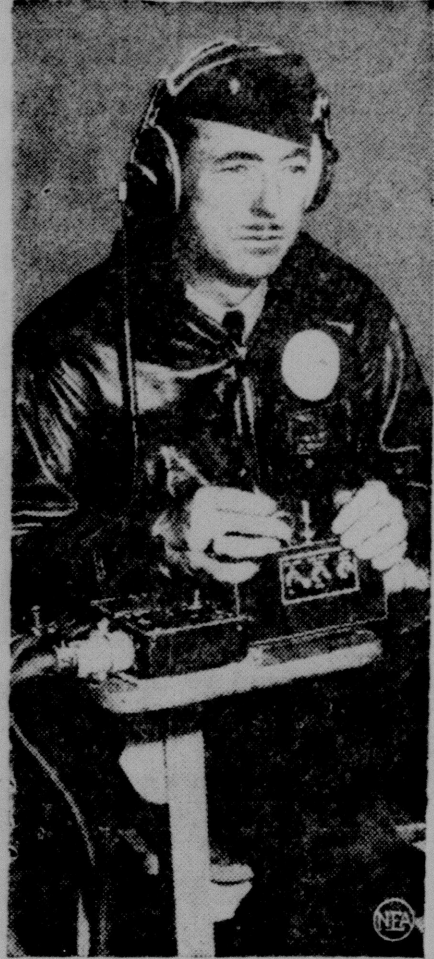

"If the temperature should rise another 100 degrees centigrade," he explained, "it would be a sign that a resumption of activity could be expected."

The last damaging Vesuvius eruption, in 1944, destroyed the funicular railway to the top of the mountain and damaged many U. S. Airforce bombers stationed nearby.

Chinese Have Mechanized Farms
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The official Peiping radio says Communist China now has 41 major mechanized state farms occupying 180,000 acres. All are equipped with tractors, combines and other farming machines.

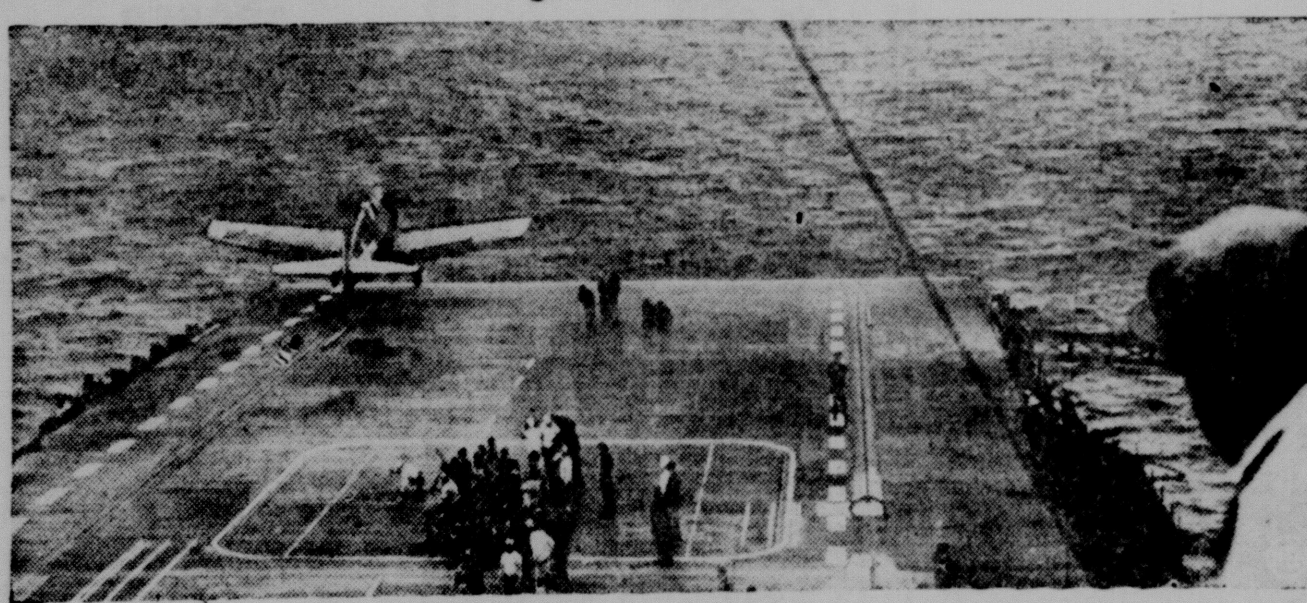

In addition, hundreds of smaller state farms are using these improved implements, said the broadcast which was heard here.

Guided Missiles Are 'Pay Off' for Tests

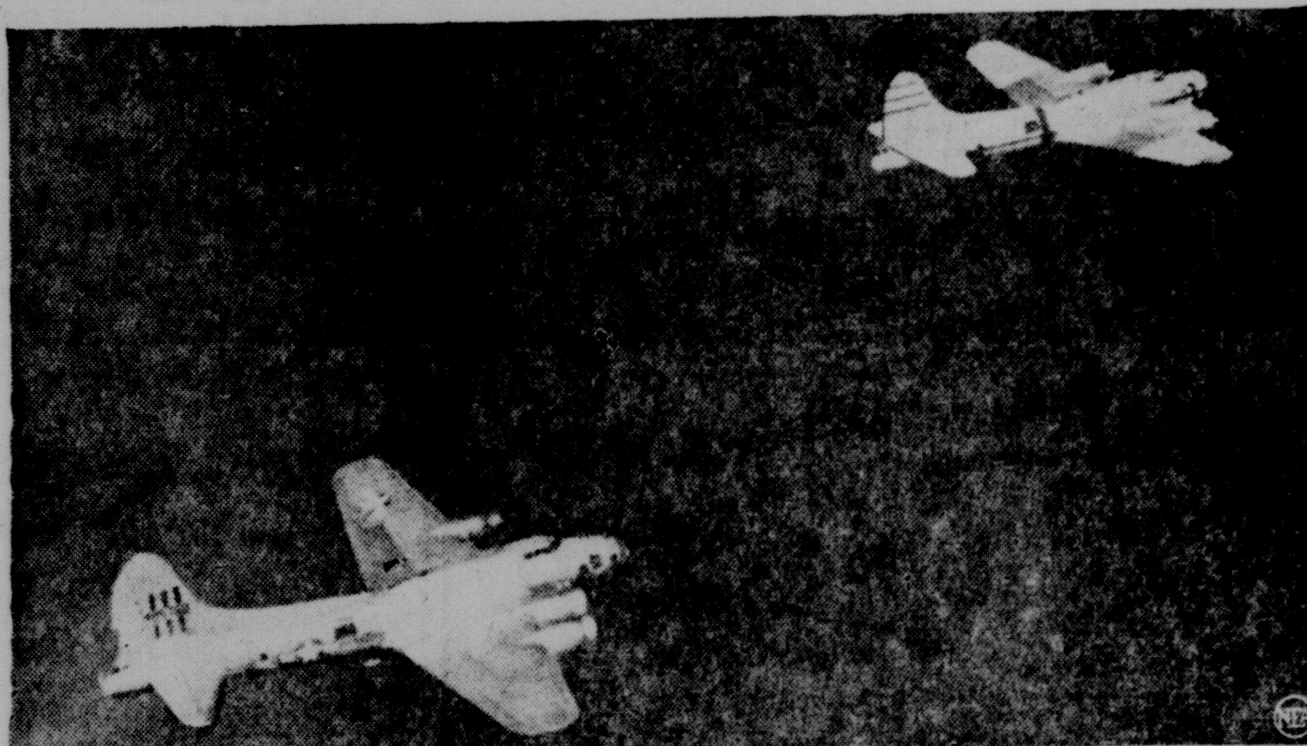

This is the heart of "push-button" warfare. A pilot, manipulating buttons on electronic switch-boxes like the ones seen in the photo, above, guides a pilotless Hellcat fighter plane along a carrier's deck and into the air. At proper altitude, pilot of mother plane, with asimilar "keyboard" before him, takes over the robot plane and guides it to its target. Robot pilot here is Lt. Comdr. W. G. Maurer.

When the U. S. Navy used guided missiles to bombard Korean enemy targets 150 miles away, it was the pay-off on hundreds of experiments in "push-button" warfare. Pictures below, taken during those experiments, show just how guided missiles are used. Essentially, the routine is simple. A deck controller manipulates electronic instruments to take the pilotless drone plane off the carriers' deck into the air. When the drone, guided from the deck, reaches 500 feet altitude, the "mother" plane, which has been circling above, takes over. It guides the missile plane onto the target, hovering safely above enemy flak range. On the drone is a television transmitter. TV receivers on the mother plane and the carrier enable officers to follow every second of the drone's flight. In actual combat, the drone was an obsolescent Hellcat fighter, carrying a 2000-pound bomb. It was guided by two AD-2 Douglas attack planes, one on the deck of the carrier USS Boxer, the other aloft as the "mother" plane. Each was loaded with secret electronic equipment.
